Fleet and Commercial Auto

Our partnership with a premier outside transportation safety company offers a profusion of information for our workers’ comp, commercial auto, fleet and trucking customers. This includes a free online safe driving course for individuals who drive personal or company vehicles at work, as well as specialized modules for those who drive heavier commercial vehicles. We even included a module for drivers of 15-passenger vans — of particular interest to our nonprofits and others with this unique exposure.

Commercial Property Protection

For our commercial lines customers we have important resources through our partnership with the Insurance Institute for Business & Home Safety. Content includes commercial building maintenance, tornado, hurricane and hail preparation, fire and commercial flood loss prevention, and more. There is also a business continuity program to recover from business interruptions. New articles are produced about once a month, so check this resource often.

AmTrust Loss Control Website

The AmTrust Loss Control Department offers a wide array of safety and educational materials at our website that cover technical guidance, general safety and training resources.

These resources provide our policyholders with aid in controlling hazards, training employees and solving specific risk management problems. Below is a brief summary of the different sections on the website.

Library

The library houses a collection of concise Loss Control materials that are sorted by category. These reference materials include safety meeting handouts, “toolbox” talks, envelope stuffers, worksheets and more.

External Resources

Our external resources provide an in-depth reference center for both general and technical Loss Control topics. These documents are created and maintained by various public and private organizations and are sorted by industry category. Many contain hyperlinks to the source

– OSHA, for example – allowing the user to quickly drill deeper into the area of inquiry.

Training Materials

Our streaming training materials provide an extremely popular benefit for our AmTrust policyholders. In partnership with CLMI Safety Training, we maintain an extensive library of relevant, high-quality, web-based training kits. With a click of the mouse, our customers can engage effective training for both the small or large-group format.

Each video comes with a quiz that can be printed and administered to your group at the end of the training session. With topics ranging from Driving Safety/Defensive Driving, which are important for our multi-line or Commercial Auto customers, to hundreds of general industry titles for our Workers’ Compensation line, these kits are a valuable resource with meaningful content.

Newsletters

This section houses past issues of our Loss Control newsletter, “The Safety Zone.” Keeping up-to-date on news and tips is a great way to enhance your Loss Control program.

Commercial Package

Important commercial package resources are offered in abundance through our partnership with the Insurance Institute for Business & Home Safety. Examples of topics include fire sprinkler maintenance, commercial flood loss prevention, tornado, hail and hurricane preparation and business continuity following disasters. Because Loss Control processes vary by business type, region of the country, season and other factors, new articles and research are produced about once a month, so check back often.

Our partnership with a premier outside transportation safety company offers a profusion of information for our workers’ comp, commercial auto, fleet and trucking customers. This includes a free online safe driving course for individuals who drive personal or company vehicles at work, as well as specialized modules for those who drive heavier commercial vehicles.
